Alternate Assessment Regional Training Events

Training sessions will highlight the new alternate assessments (AIMS-A, ASAT) available for teachers to access in January, 2008. New test formats, revisions to the collection of student data with regard to a new scoring rubric and modifications made to the online submission processes will also be discussed.

Each public education agency who serves students eligible to participate in these tests should select a maximum of two trainers to attend the training closest to their location. Please register for the alternate assessment training at:
